National Severe Weather Warning Service

Chief Forecasters Assessment
Heavy and persistent rain is expected across parts of northwest Wales, northern England and southern Scotland on Wednesday before gradually easing during Wednesday night. Many places within the warning area will see 25-50 mm of rain, with around 100 mm possible over higher ground. Heavy rain will gradually clear eastwards during Wednesday night. There remains some uncertainty with regards to the exact location of the heaviest rain. Heavy rain will be accompanied by strong winds across many parts of the warning area.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Rain

Valid from 08:00 on Wed, 22nd Nov 2017 until 04:00 on Thu, 23rd Nov 2017

Heavy rain is expected across parts of northwest Wales, northern England and southern Scotland on Wednesday before clearing overnight.

Spray and flooding on roads will make journey times longer. Bus and train services will also be affected with journey times taking longer. A few homes and businesses flooded. Strong winds are also expected which could add to the difficult travel conditions.
